A major of assumption of the parallel and distributed information processing model (PDPM) is that the integrated processing of internal information about our own visual attention with posterior processing of information about the visual attention of other people gives rise to a cognitive synthesis that is the defining feature of joint attention (Figure 5., Mundy & Newell, 2007).

IEEE Transactions on Parallel and Distributed Systems (TPDS) is published monthly. It publishes a range of papers, comments on previously published papers, and survey articles that deal with the parallel and distributed systems research areas of current importance to our readers.

IEEE Transactions on Parallel and Distributed Systems

Distributed computing is a field of computer science that studies distributed systems. A distributed system is a system whose components are located on different networked computers, which communicate and coordinate their actions by passing messages to one another. The components interact with one another in
